

Gordon Brown

PIMCO advisor and former UK prime minister

Dr. Brown was Prime Minister of the United Kingdom from June 2007 to May 2010. Previously Mr. Brown served as Chancellor of the Exchequer from 1997 to 2007, becoming the longest-serving holder of that office in two centuries. He holds a Ph.D. in history from the University of Edinburgh and before entering Parliament was a lecturer. He has authored a number of books and since leaving government, he has been the United Nations Special Envoy for Global Education and chaired the Global Strategic Infrastructure Initiative of the World Economic Forum.

Programm

ZEIT	Dienstag, 22.01.2019, 10:30 CHICAGO
THEMA	Globalisation, what's next?
REFERENT(EN)	Gordon Brown, Martin Dahinden, Yves Serra
MODERATION	Jan Schwalbe
